Darren Weisheit

A native of Dubois, Indiana, Weisheit played baseball for Southeastern from 1987 to 1989. He was a two-time All-Conference, All-Region, and All-American selection during his Falcon career.

When asked about his memories of Southeaster, he replied: "Just people in general; they were a great group."

Darren is in his 13th season as baseball coach for Northeast Dubois High School. He is currently employed at Jasper Rubber Products in Jasper, IN. He is married to Tonya Weisheit and they are the proud parents of four children: Darren, age 15; Kris, age 14; Makayla, age 11; and Clayton, age 4.
