Milton Vaughn

Milton Vaughn, brother to the NBA’s Charlie Vaughn, came to Southeastern from Tamms High School without the benefit of a scholarship, because Southeastern had none to offer. The 6'2" point guard averaged 27 points per game during the 1967 and 1968 seasons. At the time of induction, he had established himself as Southeastern’s sixth highest scorer with 1027 total points during his SIC career. Vaughn went on to play for Oral Roberts University and now teaches at Meridian Elementary.
